

To dear authors (Five)

----what should you pay special attention to for style and layout?

A good theme requires clear and logical expressions. The same theme with different logic expression forms will result in utterly different effects. In some of our submitted papers, there are problems of logical confusion, semantic ambiguity and even separation between theme and demonstration. It has a bad influence in readers' understanding towards research thought and findings. It also affects readers' evaluation on paper quality. Therefore, our press intends to remind writers the following requirements:

First, demonstration and layout must be connected closely with theme and topic of the paper.

Second, outline of the paper must be clear and logically complete. Writers need to keep it in mind what to explain first, what to follow next and what to conclude in the end. Every step must be considered carefully and arranged carefully.

Third, title of each paragraph must be semantically clear and conveys main idea of the paragraph. It must respond to topic of the paper.

Fourth, titles in the paper must be logically consistent and correspondent.