PAPER SUBMISSIONS (NO201602)

According to guidelines of project application (2016) from National Social Science Fund and recommended topics from innovation engineering project of Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, together with characteristics of the research on quantitative and technical economics, paper submissions are welcomed based on these topics:

1. Method to predict macro-economy based on the background of national big data;

2. Research on price measurement of products and service in the competitive field;

3. Quantitative study on economic benefits and influential factors of non-state-owned capital;

4. Research on measurement system of benchmark interest rate in the financial market;

5. Quantitative study on influencing factors and development of emerging financial formats;

6. Quantitative study on development and benefits of inclusive financial system;

7. Research on methodology of monitoring and taking precautions against risks of global cross-border capital flow;

8. Research on new trends and influencing factors of internet financial development;

9. Research on efficient ways to manufacturing power and new industry system;

10. Quantitative study on coordination development of China's service industry and manufacturing industry;

11. Quantitative study on scale and structure of producer service industry;

12. Research on efficiency of independent innovation of private enterprises;

13. Research on construction of free trade zone and high standard performance of China's opening to the outside world;

14. Quantitative study on rising prices of production factors and rapid increase in export trade.

Welcome scholars and researchers to submit your papers to our journal. All papers should be subject to the following guidelines:

1. Papers should cover sufficient evidence, rich content, profound thoughts, and distinct opinions and be reasonable, feasible and valuable for decision making of communist party and the government.

2. There are no limits to paper length and argument form. Authors whose papers are accepted will get favorable reward.